Dear Eleanor:

Thank you very much for the cards for Betsy and for me. I realize that I haven't been much of a correspondent, but there just doesn't seem to be time for all the things that need doing - both at work and at home.

Perhaps the enclosed will help to make up for past lapses. It was taken at Christmas a year ago, and despite Betsy's tongue is about the best we've been able to manage so far. From left to right we have Betsy, now 10, very bright and amusing but not too interested in working at the things he has to do. Next comes Betsy, now almost 4, and badly spoiled by all of us. Sam, on the right, is big, solid, and easy-going. almost 7, he loves school and can't wait for next year when he can
